

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An asymmetrical focus ring varies the flow-field, which aids in normalizing pressure gradients across the wafer being processed, thereby improving the process. Embodiments of the present invention utilize a focus ring that either (1) contains a pattern of through holes that enhances pumping, or (2) does not contain any such pattern.